INTERNATIONAL LAW EXPERTS DECLARE ARMISTICE ONLY EXISTING TREATY NOW

LEAGUE OF NATIONS PLAN RENDERS INVALID ALL SECRET TREATIES HERETOFORE MADE BY MEMBERS

ELIMINATES TERRITORIAL CLAIMS

EDITOR'S NOTE.—In view of the fact that the secret treaty is probably recognized as the greatest possible obstruction to a just and lasting peace the following story is probably the most significant to come out of the peace conference to date.

By FRED S. FERGUSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Copyright 1919 by the United Press)

PARIS, Jan. 29.—The secret treaties effected by the Allies before America entered the war, which were generally accepted as constituting the most serious menace to democracy and a permanent peace, are invalid.

They were swept away by the acceptance of the armistice terms including President Wilson's fourteen points, his speech of January 8, and subsequent speeches.

They were doubly nullified when the Allies agreed on the principle of the League of Nations. The United Press is able to state this today on the authority of the highest international law experts now in Paris. According to these men, the terms of the armistice are binding and subsequently every previous agreement is invalid. The armistice, therefore, is the only treaty that could properly be considered in the peace conference.

The terms of the League of Nations further make it certain that all old "understandings" will be cancelled. The American people consequently need entertain no fear that the secret treaties will interfere with their ideas of a proper peace settlement.

This authoritative opinion is especially significant in view of the present discussion of territorial claims. It probably explains the confidence in certain quarters that the imperialistic ambitions of some of the associated powers will not be realized.

VAST QUANTITIES OF FOODSTUFFS HELD IN YORK STATE WAREHOUSES

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 29.—Sixty-six warehouses in New York state are overflowing with accumulations of food stuffs today while retail food prices cling generally to the war time level. If these supplies were placed on the market the cost of living would toboggan. Comparing the quantity of the food in storage January 1, 1918 and January 1, 1919 there is a tremendous increase.

Following are the figures as given in reports made by warehouse managers to the State Department and checked by inspectors. Names of the owners are not given out.

	Commodities in stock Jan. 7, 1918	Commodities in stock Jan. 1, 1919

GERMAN NEWSPAPERS SYMPATHIZE WITH WILHELM ON HIS BIRTHDAY

By JOHN GRAUDEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN, Jan. 27.—Conservative German newspapers today commemorated the former Kaiser's birthday by expressions of sympathy for him. The German newspaper Lokal Anzeiger stated that it looked forward with confidence to the hour when Germany again will be an empire under the rule of a Kaiser. It did not necessarily mean that Wilhelm shall be returned to the throne. It did, however express hope that a homestead for the deposed Hohenzollern should be found in Germany and promised that the utmost measures would be taken in that case to protect him from falling into the hands of his enemy. It is our sacred duty to remember with love and admiration the man who has plunged from the highest heights to the deepest depths.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Marriage by mail for soldiers over seas and sweethearts in this country is permissible under a War Department ruling today. The only limitation is that the proxy wedding shall not be countenanced where state laws would make the marriage invalid. Commanding officers suggested the decision to aid in cases where the soldiers are anxious to wed before they return.

No insurance will be issued on this form of postal business.—(Progress.)

BRILLIANT SCENE AS THE DELEGATES ARE WELCOMED TO CITY

The Dimeling Hotel was the scene of a brilliant assemblage last evening when the Women's club of Clearfield greeted the delegate from the twelve counties of the Northwestern District of the State Federation of Womnes clubs. At the banquet which followed the reception, after dinner speeches were made, beginning with 'Words of Welcome' by Mrs. Harry Boulton, President of the local club. Owing to illness Mrs Boulton was unable to deliver her address and Mrs George B Read read the paper which was excellent throughout. One of the points emphasized by Mrs Boulton was that the war had considerably changed the social order of things and with their broader vision and larger phere of usefulness proven, women were now striving to be of greater service to each other.

After the welcome address an entertaining and happy hour was spent in listening to the officers of the district and impromtu remarks. Mrs J P O'Laughlin was a most charming toastmistress who announced each speaker in a most interesting and clever manner. Mrs Marcus Jamison gave a very humorous account of her journey to Clearfield with its necessary "stop overs" enroute.

Mrs Samuel Semple, state secretary, spoke very feelingly on the subject of "Pennsylvania." Mrs Semple who is prominent in state club circles spoke at length on the importance of child welfare. Mrs J W Kitchen read a very interesting paper on the work of the Northwestern district past, present and future.

The meeting at the High School was somewhat marred by the unpreventable absence of Doctors Hamm II and Royer but the subject of Child Welfare was ably handled by Dr Johnson of the Federal department who stated that thousands of children die annually from preventable diseases all because of sheer neglect.

Dr John W Gordon, County Medical Inspector of Clearfield county, declared that the child welfare movement was a very vital necessity as upon the children of today depends the welfare and greatness of the nation tomorrow.

The following are among the out of town delegates to the convention:

Mrs Ronald P Gleason Scranton President State Federation of Pennsylvania Women

Mrs Samuel Sample Titusville Secretary State Federation of Pennsylvania Women

LADIES BASKET BALL GAME AT THE Y. M. C. A

On Thursday evening at 8 o'clock a large delegation of DuBois Basket Ball fans will accompany their girls' team over to Clearfield where they will play the Clearfield girls on the Y M C A gym floor.

A good game is looked for as both teams have been practicing hard and both teams are confident of victory.

Maude Geppert is captain of our girls team and she has played on the Y M C A team of Philadelphia and the other girls have played a couple of years. Come early and get a seat. Everybody welcome. Admission 25 cents.

Our first Y M C A bowling team defeated the Altoona team by 132 pins.

Ennis' team of Wild cats defeated the Woods Business Men in a battle for first place.

There are now 50 men and boys in the men and boys league.

The Ladies Auto Class is growing in both members and interest. It meets every Tuesday and Thursday at the Market Street garage at 2 o'clock.

On Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, you are all invited to attend a big mass meeting at the Y M C A to hear Sec Graflius' red hot address on cigarettes. Good singing and music.

IN FOR A TRIMMING

SPECIAL TRAIN BRINGING GOOD ROADS BOOSTERS HERE: IN UNION THERE IS STRENGTH. COME ONE. COME ALL

The Good Roads meeting to be held in the Court Room tomorrow afternoon promises to be the largest gathering of the kind ever held in Clearfield county.

Senator John S. Fisher of Harrisburg, will be the principal speaker and delegations will be present from every section of the county.

County Commissioners Dale and Spencer addressed a meeting in DuBois yesterday and urged the County Association there, as a result a large delegation will come over from the metropolis in a special train to attend the meeting.

Clearfield county people have at last wakened up to the fact that a strong County organization is necessary to get Clearfield county's roads the proper consideration at the hands of the State Highway Department.

This organization is being formed at the suggestion of the Highway Department officials who always contended that Clearfield county was handicapped because they wanted district or sectional roads instead of uniform county roads.

Every section of the county is interested in good roads. Every section of the county should have good roads in their particular section. Let us unite our forces and see that the greatest good comes to the greatest number. In union there is strength.

Let every district participate in tomorrow's big meeting.

ASKS PROGRESS TO PUBLISH WHISKEY BILL OF WARDENS

Clearfield, Pa, Jan 28 1919

Editor The Progress

Having just returned home my attention was called to a communication from Curwensville signed by "Another Old Hunter," in which an attempt is made to discredit my statement of recent date relative to the profligate expenditure of the Hunter's License fund for whiskey by the state game wardens under direction of the state Game commisson or at least of the Secretary, Dr Kalbfus.

The only reason we had for making the assertion was because of the copy of a bill for expenses filed in the Auditor General's office and paid out of the state game commission's hunters license fund.

We don't assume any responsibility for same or care to enter into a controversy but suggest and ask. The Progress as a matter of public duty toward the hunter of Clearfield county to go into the question and look up such bills and report on [illegible] publish same and not [illegible] information. MYSTERIES ARE SOLVED

Penmanship and the clarified signature long since seem to have passed into the realm of lost arts. The typewriter has taken the zest out of the feather chirography, and there no longer seems incentive to write a readable "johnhancock".

The net result is bad, of course Very many signatures are undecipherable without the letter head lending a hand, many a communication would remain unanswered for lack of an addressee

Now comes the suggestion that every signature however clear be supplemented with the name in type. The worst hieroglyphic disappears under this treatment and the recipient knows clearly whose letter it is. As a consequence there is less hair-pulling Business is facilitated and the puzzling signature puzzles no more

Business has already adopted the practice in many places and its sanity ought to insure for it general usage

MAKING YOUR TAX RETURN

A warning against "fake experts" on Income tax has been sounded by the Internal Revenue Bureau, in a statement received by Collector C. G. Lewellyn from Commissioner Daniel C. Roper.

"Business houses and individual taxpayers are being canvassed this year by numerous so-called 'Income Tax experts,' who are offering to use their magic wands of Income Tax wisdom to relieve the busy taxpayer from all worries about his tax responsibilities.

"I desire to make public announcement, for the information of taxpayers, that an investigation of the qualifications of many of these experts will disclose the fact that very few of them have had the training and experience that would place them anywhere near the expert class.

"Some of them were formerly temporary employees of the government who are attempting to capitalize this fact regardless of their personal knowledge of the revenue laws and regulations

WHERE THE WAR IS STILL ON

The commodity markets yesterday were again demoralized Prices of corn, oats, barley and rye dropped violently by from 4 to 10 cents a bushel. Provisions were sympathetically affected, with a fall of $1 to the barrel of pork and 50 cents to the hundredweight of ribs and lard. These sharp declines are in succession to a general tendency pre ailing in practically all markets reflecting the necessary costs of living.

This is no longer news to the average consumer, and as the wholesale markets originate the knowledge they are in no need of the information But the retailers appear to be still dwelling in the outer zones of darkness. Their prices as a rule reveal no corresponding tendency to yield. Their price-labels indicate that the war is still going on, that there has been no armistice, that the enemy has not surrendered and that there is not going to be any surrender anyhow so far as they are concerned.

It is possible that the lower wholesale priced goods have not reached local markets but these items appearing in the metropolitan newspapers are leading consumers to ask when prices will begin to yield in local stores. No doubt some reductions will be noticeable within the next two weeks.

VAIL WANTS U. S. TO BE CENTER OF GREAT INTERNATIONAL WIRE SYSTEM

For Protection of Our Political and Economic Position

Holds for Unification and Federal Regulation of Utilities

A letter f Hon N American f p written in Hon John V mittee on Post Off Hon o'clock p m public Mr V unification of present Post Office Department system and ext a plan for a wireless centering in and extending to the United States as a unit with the rest of America in communication with all parts of the world. A wireless system that will be available for the service of the Post Office Department and the extension of its present facilities.

The letter refers to the Post Office Department's bill. It is not Mr Vail's intention that this bill is to Congress but that it be considered in connection with the operating needs of the Post Office Department. A definite proposition will be submitted to Congress for the Post Office Department to prepare and present to Congress a specific proposition for the creation of a wireless communication which will work in with the present system and economy of the Post Office Department. Inter-continental wireless service controlled from the United States, if thoroughly considered, may be the solution cannot be prepared and presented at this session of Congress. It is recognized that the interest of the public the utility should not be restricted to the owners of the property, but some correction of the existing practices in regulation and control of utilities would seem highly desirable for the good of the country and for the proper protection of the public at this time should be given careful consideration.

In short Mr Vail's argument is that the management of the utilities will not be interfered with by legislation to correct the evil which has grown up in the multiplicity of inter-related and sometimes irresponsible complex control by duplicating and overlapping forms of control or regulation.

Mr Vail's suggestion will result in opportunity for a great part of the financial and constructive work of combining and coordinating all the various existing public utility services or those that are complementary and supplementary into one or more well balanced systems, the extent of which could be determined by the nature of the service, by the extent of the service rendered and by commercial geographic economic reasons and by combining in a direct manner and as far as possible divorced from political or partisan or class influence the requisite power and authority of the Federal Government expressed in a mandate to equalize revenue operating, cost and capital charges with proper compensation adjusted to the requirements of the service and based upon the actual which experience and experimentation in the industrial world has shown to be effective efficient and economical.

In order to prove his point Mr Vail refers in other instances to the wide application of the United States of intelligent and effective regulatory methods exercised over improvements of the railroads and many public utilities for a number of years. The system of the creation of the public service property, skilled and well directed, and the fair return to the owners of the property will be considered by the Commission as the controlling factor in the determination of rates.

BRADY TWP FARMER HEARS PANTHER CRY

Jacob Haag, a venerable Brady township farmer brought the first panther story heard in this section in years, into this city this morning.

Mr. Haag declares that he distinctly heard a panther growling in the vicinity of his home shortly before midnight last night, although he was unable to see the animal upon investigation.

Mr. Haag has been a resident of Brady township for many years and was well acquainted with that section when there were numerous panthers in the vicinity, being well acquainted with the animals and the noises and sounds they make, so that he is convinced that he is not mistaken over the sounds he heard last night.—Tuesday's DuBois Express.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur no one can tell, because its done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though at home is mussy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look younger.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

THE MOUNTAIN LION'S TRIP.

"I must tell you," said the mountain lion whose name was Jim, "of the trip I have had."

Jim was a very beautiful mountain lion or puma and had just arrived in a big western zoo.

He was three years old and weighed one hundred and seventy-eight pounds, which is quite a good deal for a three-year-old to weigh.

"I was taken to the East," Jim said grandly, "and they had quite a time catching me to take me there. Ah, but I knew they wanted to have quite a hard time. Because," he added after a pause, "there was a reason."

"What could the reason have been?" his new zoo companions asked each other. They didn't want to ask him because they were afraid he would be quite unbearable if he became too conceited, and he had already had so many interesting experiences.

"What are you talking about?" Jim asked, for he noticed that they had been whispering to each other.

"Oh nothing very important," one of them said.

"Then you must have been talking about me," Jim said.

"What!" they all exclaimed. "The very idea!"

"Now what is the trouble?" inquired Jim.

"Do you mean to tell us," one of the zoo mountain lions named Tom asked, "that you don't consider yourself important after your journey and your experiences?"

"Oh, no," said Jim, "it hasn't changed me. I hate creatures who go off on trips and come back as if they'd been made all over again. They pretend they aren't used to the home ways at all, in a short time they've grown so used to the ways of other folks and creatures, and they put on such airs! Oh, such airs as they put on! I didn't really want to come here. I was afraid you would all think I was that sort of an animal.

"I roared good and hard too when they took me down to the express company from my Eastern home. I just said to them that I didn't want to move. I was willing to stay where I was.

But they paid no attention to me as they had decided to send me out here.

"No, I think I can truthfully say I am not conceited. But if you would like to hear about my trip I will tell you about it. For the trip was interesting—it wasn't myself that was so interesting—it was the trip. That often makes me so angry in creatures. They take all the credit to themselves for the trip.

"The places they have visited they think make them more interesting and far finer! And they don't give the credit to the places.

"Well, to continue, for my experiences have been interesting, just because I have had a great deal of luck in seeing something of life."

Jim roared a little and then continued, "As I said before they had a hard time catching me in the first place because they let me know they wanted to have a hard time. I wasn't feeling in the least wild. But they were taking my picture for the moving pictures and so they wanted me to appear like a very bad mountain lion. I did my part as I was told by my master who had made a great pet of me since the days when I hurt my foot as a little fellow. He took pity on me, and looked after me.

"Then I was taken East and I stood three times a day outside a moving picture theater and roared. Now there wasn't anything to that. It was quite simple for me to roar.

"In fact they couldn't have given me an easier act. So why get conceited over that? I didn't.

"And while I roared in a cage outside the theater, the people bought tickets for the show and went inside to see my picture.

"But my master said I could do better than that, because there were so many tricks I could do, and some more I could learn."

"What can you do?" the zoo companions asked.

"Oh, a few left and right springs and so forth," said Jim modestly, "but I want to learn a lot more. They're going to make a trick lion out of me."

"It's a wonder you're not conceited," the others said.

"Nonsense," said Jim, "it's simply because I've been a very lucky lion. Things have just come my way, and I have the sense to see that, and not to think it's because I'm such a wonder!"

TREATED ROYALLY IN GERMANY SAYS CLEARFIELD YANK

Private Clarence D. Lansberry, a member of Co. A, 4th M. G. Inf., in a letter to his father Wesley Lansberry, of Merrill street, says he is having the time of his life now in Plaidt, Germany, where he is located with the army of occupation. The letter was written December 31st and he says if some one had told him on December 31, 1917 that one year later he would have been through France, Alsace Lorraine, Luxemburg, and into Germany to the Rhine he would have thought them crazy. But here I am and sure have had some trip getting here.

The people here sure treat us fine. They have it all over the French in every way. I am staying with some people by the name of Esser and believe me they make it seem like home to me. There are two boys in the family who were in the German army. They were on the same front I was on. That is Chateau Thierry, St. Mihiel and the Argonne forest. They have been mustered out.

One of the boys is playing the piano now and if my pen gets to dancing around on the paper don't blame me.

Give my regards to all the folks.

MINE GAS BLOWUP KILLS THREE MEN AT SMOKE RUN, PA

Three men are dead as a result of an explosion of gas in the Goodyear sope at Smoke Run. The victims were Lew Burelle, aged 36 years, who leaves a wife and five children; Fred Hanley, aged 21 years and Steve Lucas, aged 20 years, both single.

The men were at work at usual, and without any warning the explosion occurred resulting from a lighted miners' lamp. They were hurled into a pool of water 2½ feet deep, and as they undoubtedly became immediately unconscious, it is thought were drowned instead of being killed from effects of the gas.

The bodies were not brought to the surface until the day following the explosion The men were favorably known and their sad death was a great shock to the community.

U. S. NAVY SCHOOLS STILL OPEN

Although the U. S. navy has secured a large number of men during the past week for the Electrical school at Hampton Roads, Va., and the 6 Machinists school at Charlston, S. C., the recruiting officer has announced that the quota has not as yet been filled.

Men between the ages of 18 and 30 who have had at least a small amount of experiesce in electrical work, and who are familiar with dynamos and dynamo engines, will be enlisted, if they meet the requirements and transferred to the Electrical school for training and to complete their education. Men who have finished their apprenticeship as machinists, or who possess equivalent knowledge may be enlisted as machinists mates, second class, and men who have had only limited machine shop experience may be enlisted as "Firemen, third class, for Machinists Mates." These men will be transferred to the Machinists school at Charleston, S. C.

Applicants will be examined by Chief Machinists Mate Weiss, who is in charge of the navy recruiting station at 1306 Eleventh Ave., Altoona, Pa. The station is in Room 3 and is open every day except Sunday for the reception of applicants for all branches of service in the U. S. navy.

It penetrates right into the injured muscles, nerves, ligaments, tendons, and soothes and relief comes instantly. It not only kills pain but soothes and heals the injury so a quick recovery is effected.

Get a small trial bottle of St. Jacobs Liniment" right now at any drug store and stop suffering. Nothing else acts this quickly—so thoroughly. It is the only application to rub on a sprain, strain, bruise or swelling.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

Every man takes care that his neighbor shall not cheat him. But a day comes when he begins to see that he does not cheat his neighbor. Then all goes well. He has changed his market cart into a chariot of the sun.

THE WELL-STOCKED EMERGENCY SHELF.

In every well-ordered home an emergency shelf is an indispensable adjunct to the equipment. With a well-stocked shelf the housekeeper goes calmly on, even with an invasion of four or five unexpected guests. The variety of shelf foods will depend largely upon the taste of the family. It is a good plan to have two jars or cans of each article in case one is not sufficient. Be sure to replenish any cans used at the first order, so that the shelf is always ready for any emergency.

The average family will use several cans of condensed milk, two or three kinds of soup, two cans each, two cans of salmon and two of tuna fish, one package of codfish, two cans of clams and two of crab meat, a glass of dried beef and sliced bacon, a jar of cream cheese, a bottle of parmesan cheese, a few cans of corn, peas, string and lima beans, two cans of asparagus, tomatoes and spinach, one can of stuffed olives, one of ripe olives and a can of pimentos, two jars of peaches, pears and sliced pineapple, one bottle of salad dressing, a glass of peanut butter, two bottles each of ginger ale and grape juice, a package of crackers (sweet), and salted wafers, mixed nuts, a few choice raisins, figs and dates, with a small tin of marshmallows.

A most attractive dish, and one quickly prepared, is the following:

Salmon With Riced Potato.—Take a good-sized platter, heap the salmon in the center, if the ordinary kind, removing skin and bones; if it is a filet of salmon place it unbroken in the center of a chop plate or platter. Cook potatoes to serve the number of guests, put through a ricer and arrange as a border to the fish. Prepare a rich white sauce, using a cupful of milk and two tablespoonfuls of butter and flour cooked together, then add the milk. When thick and well-cooked pour around the potato and place the platter in a dripping pan of hot water; place in the oven and heat until hot all through. Serve garnished with a bit of parsley.

BURZIE COLE IN GERMANY AFTER 400 MILE MARCH

Private Burzie Cole in a letter to his sister dated December 29th, mentions that he has not heard from his brother Elmer for a long time, evidently never having heard of the latter's death from pneumonia several weeks ago. He says he has not received even one leter from home since reaching the other side. He landed in France October 13th. They went from Brest to Bordeaux and after a week's training at Camp Hunt were shipped to the front line and spent the next three weeks under fire. He says that was long enough for their outfit and they were all glad when the armistice was signed.

He was on the long hike into Germany and said the Regimental band he is in played going through every town on their 400 mile march. They are in Polch, Germany now.

BRITISH OFFICER IN LETTER SPEAKS OF CLARENCE RISHELL

Lt. Thomas A. Jones of the 301st Heavy British-U. S. Tank Company, with the British Expeditionary Forces in a letter to a friend in Kenova, which was sent to O. B. Porter, made the following mention of Clarence ("Frosty") Rishell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Rishell, of McKee street:

"Do you know Corporal L. Rishell of Clearfield? He was killed by a Boche's tank—the same tank which afterward commanded. He was a splendid chap and we feel his loss quite keenly. Another [illegible]—Mr. Parker—is also in our unit. Maybe you have heard of either one of these boys."

GUNNERY SERGEANT JOHN P. BARRY, OF HILLSDALE IS CITED FOR BRAVERY UNDER FIRE: RUSSELL FLEGAL IN COMPANY

Sergeant John P. Barry of Company F Fifth United States Marine corps was one of the Clearfield boys, whose bravery under fire won him a citation from his superior officers.

Sergant Barry's citation reads: "He displayed great courage in rescuing a wounded man under violent machine gun fire, with utter disregard of danger and risk of life. This was near Vierzy on July 18 1918."

Sergeant Barry has been advanced to Gunnery Sergeant. He went thru every engagment with the Fifth Marines from the time they landed in France until the armistice was signed and is now a member of the army of occupation, located at Segendorf, Germany.

John Shade and Russell Flegal, two of Clearfield's best and bravest young men who made the supreme sacrifice in their country's defense, were also members of the Fifth Marines and in order that our people may get some idea of the part these boys played in the great war drama we publish herewith the general order issued to the 2nd Division of which the Fifth Marines was a unit, on the signing of the armistice. It is well worth reading.

Headquarters Second Division
(Regular)
American Expeditionary Forces
France, November 11, 1918

GENERAL ORDER

1. An armistice between the allied nations and Germany has been signed and hostilities ceased temporarily at 11 a. m. today.

2. It is fitting that the great part played by the 2nd Division in bringing about this momentous victory over a redoubtable foe should be recounted at this time.

3. At the end of May, the enemy broke through the allied lines on a wide front west of Rheims and reached the Marne near Chateau Thierry. The safety of Paris and of the allied army itself was at stake. It stopped his advance; it drove him back, and it demonstrated for all time that the American is second to none in valor. In endurance and unyielding determination to conquer.

4. Again on July 18th, during the last great enemy offensive, the 2nd Division after a night march of unparalleled difficulty struck, near Soissons, the flank of the enemy's salient, penetrated his lines and brought his offensive to a standstill. This was the beginning of the allied offensive which has continued unceasingly and untiringly until today.

5. On September 12th-15th, the American Army fought its first battle in France under American leadership. To the 2nd Division was assigned the most difficult and the most important task — the capture of Thiaucourt and the Jaulny-Xammes ridge. It reached its second day's objective on the first day, drove off the enemy's counter-attacks, and clinched the victory.

6. In the Champagne district, October 2nd to 10th it fought beside the Fourth French army. On October 3d, it seized Blanc Mont Ridge, the keystone of the arch of the main German position advanced beyond the Ridge and, although both flanks were unsupported, it held all its gains with the utmost tenacity, inflicting tremendous losess on the enemy. This victory freed Rheims and forced the entire German army between that city and the Argonne forest to retreat to the Aisne, a distance of 30 kilometers.

7. During the latter part of October, the Division was ordered to join the 1st American army for the great attack of November 1st. It was given the post of honor and led the advance. It drove through the enemys fortified lines to a depth of over nine kilometers, seized the heights [illegible] and destroyed the [illegible] its quarters on the night of November 6th, reached Buzy, and attacked the capture the heights of Wadelincourt, pressed forward through the Forest of Belval by a single road and occupied the ridge near Beaumont. On the night of the 4th, it again attacked and advanced its lines to the Meuse. Finally on the night of the 10th, it forced its way across the Meuse and seized a commanding position on the eastern bank.

8. This superb divison of fighting men is unsurpassed in valor, in skill, in endurance in determination to conquer, and in service to the cause of the Allies.

9. In this great struggle, many of our comrades have made the supreme sacrifice for our country, but their heroic spirit dwells in the hearts of the officers and men of the 2nd Division.

HOW THE SIZE OF YOUR SOCKS AFFECTS COST OF LIVING

This little sock we give to you
Is not for you to wear,
Please multiply your size by two,
And place therein with care
In pennies or in cents
Just twice the number that you wear
(We hope it is immense)
So if you wear a No. 5
You owe us 10 cents, See!
Which dropped within this little sock
Will fill our hearts with glee.
'Tis all we ask, it isn't much,
And hardly any trouble;
But if you only have one foot,
We'll surely charge you double.
So don't forget the time and place,
And walk right in without a knock,
We'll welcome you with open arms.
But Don't Forget your Sock

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results from an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food oft in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach whiche prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach much like garbage sours in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery is the chest we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive adis and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescing and furthermore to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

Never be in such an emergency, as not to have food in the house. Have three days' food on hand.

Some defeats are only instalments of victory.

SEASONABLE DISHES.

A hot soup, creamed chicken or a bisque is favored these chilly evenings. When one has dinner at night a light dinner may be preceded by a cream soup, as tomato soup is most nourishing. Cream soups are a good convenience item to have on hand for a few minutes' heating will make ready a wholesome and appetizing dish.

Hashed Brown Potatoes.—Take two cupfuls of cold boiled potatoes run fine. Season with onion juice, salt and pepper and turn into a frying pan; add a quarter of a cupful of milk and cook without stirring for ten minutes. Fold and roll like an omelet on a hot platter when ready to serve. Garnish with parsley.

Beef With Raisins.—Cut a quarter of a pound of salt pork into strips and fry in a hot frying pan until crisp with a sliced onion. Lay a compact piece of beef on, then add a pint of water, cover and cook for ten minutes, turning the beef three times during the time. Take up the beef and lay it in a dripping pan, dredge with flour and baste with the gravy from the frying pan, broken with flour, season with salt, a teaspoonful of sugar, and two tablespoonfuls of chopped raisins and the same of blanched and shredded almonds; cook five minutes, then pour around the meat.

California Salad.—Cut a large, ripe apple into cubes, add half as much finely minced celery, one orange thinly sliced, with the juice. Spread on lettuce and slice ripe olives in bits, add oil from the olives, the chopped apple and orange with the celery and mix well. Serve garnished with sliced olives. Add a little lemon juice and let stand a half hour to season.

Salmon or Tuna Fish for Sandwich Filling.—Take a can of either fish and make into a paste with the oil in the can. Chop a small onion, a half a clove of garlic and a quarter of a green pepper, a teaspoonful of chopped parsley and water enough to cook them, drain and mash, add salt and pepper and mix with the fish. Pack in glass jars and cover with melted butter.

CLAUDE ROWLES IS RECOVERING NICELY FROM BAD WOUNDS

Claude Rowles, son of Mr. and Mrs. McClellan Rowles, of Third Ward, writes from Base Hospital No. 62 in France, that when his letter was written, on Dec. 29th, he was feeling fine although still in bed. He says he will have to remain in bed a couple of months longer, but expects to leave for the States any time. They will fix me up in a hospital there.

The Captain (my doctor) says that when I am discharged I will be able to dance. My amputation is still tender and the wound above the knee is still open but they expect to sew it up inside of a couple of weeks.

They print a paper at this hospital and I am sending you a copy. Hope you are all well.

Your loving son,
CLAUDE.

"PRIVATE BILL" AND GALBRAITH BROTHERS PLEASE ST. MARY'S

The Good Cheer Trio, consisting of "Private Bill" and the Galbraith Brothers appeared in the Temple Theatre last night before a large and appreciative audience. The entertainment was given under the auspices of St. Agnes' Guild, and this society is certainly to be congratulated in presenting to the people of St. Mary's such a high-class attraction. There was not a dull moment throughout the entire evening. Private "Bill" has a wonderful story and knows how to tell it. He held the audience spellbound throughout his entire talk. The Galbraith Brothers certainly lived up to their reputation as superior entertainers. They sing, act and play their instruments with rare skill. They kept the audience in an uproar with their humorous songs and burlesques. Their Hawaiian guitar numbers were especially enjoyed. To sum up the evening was a huge success and every one left the theatre remarking that it was one of the best attractions ever heard here.—St. Mary's Press, Jan. 25th, 1919.

The Good Cheer Trio will appear at the High School Auditorium Friday evening next for the benefit of the Clearfield Fire Department.

CHEERFUL WORDS

For Many a Clearfield Household

To have the pains and aches of a free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders, is enough to make any Kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice of one who has suffered will prove helpful to hundreds of Clearfield readers.

Mrs. C. B. Shugert Tenth and Daisy streets, Clearfield, says: "I suffered for many years with kidney trouble. My kidneys acted irregularly and that as very annoying. I tried different medicines but wasn't helped until I used Doan's Kidney pills. They did me more good than anything I had ever used. I always keep Doan's Kidney pills in the house and they benefit me when I take them."

PASTOR SURPRISED

Yesterday, January 28th being the birthday anniversary of their pastor Rev. C. W. Baker, the congregation of St. John's English Lutheran church, sprung a complete and most delightful surprise upon him. More than this they made it the occasion for a sociable gathering where good will and cheer abounded. After all had partaken of the dainty refreshments furnished by the ladies, the Superintendent of the Sunday school, P. A. Deitzel in a few well chosen words extended the congratulations of the whole congregation to the pastor, and presented him with a complete and beautiful shaving outfit, the soap dish of which was filled with dollars. The pastor feelingly responded and urged greater loyalty to the church and her laws. It was a pleasant occasion.

An infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Aodleman died Sunday evening and as buried in Oakhill cemetery Tuesday afternoon.

Lewis Abrino who conducted a very successful barbershop on South Filbert street before he entered Uncle Sams service and was sent to Vancouver Barracks Wash., is home on a furlough.

This a la Florida weather that the weather man has been handing out to us for the last two weeks has caused an outbreak of "flittin" and several familes have already switched locations.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kujawa and sons Stanley and Norman, spent Sunday with friends in Clearfield.

The new Workman's cash grocery has been opened in the building formerly occupied by the Dyer store. A meat market in connection with the store will also be opened in the same building.

A little daughter was born Sunday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Gerome Yophe of South Pine street.

Roy Daugherty has moved his family from their former residence on the South Side into the A. M. Bloom house on South Pine street.

Rev. Father P. A. Lynch, after holding services in Grampian the other day found that he had missed the out-going train and not finding it convenient to wait for the next one, decided to walk the distance. The roads were fine and Father Lynch tells us that he felt very much benefitted by the exercise his five mile walk gave him.

Scott Phillips and Alex Harley who have been stationed at Vancouver Barracks, Wash., for the past year, returned to their homes at this place on Monday, having been mustered out of the service.

Charles Addleman has about closed the sale of his farm, which is between here and Lumber City, to his son, George Addleman. The farm is considered one of the best in this section of the county and will be ably managed by the new owner who is a good agriculturist. Charles Addleman will move his family to this place if a suitable property can be secured.

John A. Blaze, superintendent of the Penna. H. & L. tannery has just returned from New York and says that the outlook for future industry has never been better.

INTERNATIONAL LAW EXPERTS DECLARE ARMISTICE ONLY EXISTING TREATY NOW

LEAGUE OF NATIONS PLAN RENDERS INVALID ALL SECRET TREATIES HERETOFORE MADE BY MEMBERS

ELIMINATES TERRITORIAL CLAIMS

EDITOR'S NOTE.—In view of the fact that the secret treaty is probably recognized as the greatest possible obstruction to a just and lasting peace the following story is probably the most significant to come out of the peace conference to date.

By FRED S. FERGUSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Copyright 1919 by the United Press)

PARIS, Jan. 29.—The secret treaties effected by the Allies before America entered the war, which were generally accepted as constituting the most serious menace to democracy and a permanent peace, are invalid.

They were swept away by the acceptance of the armistice terms including President Wilson's fourteen points, his speech of January 8, and subsequent speeches.

They were doubly nullified when the Allies agreed on the principle of the League of Nations. The United Press is able to state this today on the authority of the highest international law experts now in Paris. According to these men, the terms of the armistice are binding and subsequently every previous agreement is invalid. The armistice, therefore, is the only treaty that could properly be considered in the peace conference.

The terms of the League of Nations further make it certain that all old "understandings" will be cancelled. The American people consequently need entertain no fear that the secret treaties will interfere with their ideas of a proper peace settlement.

This authoritative opinion is especially significant in view of the present discussion of territorial claims. It probably explains the confidence in certain quarters that the imperialistic ambitions of some of the associated powers will not be realized.

VAST QUANTITIES OF FOODSTUFFS HELD IN YORK STATE WAREHOUSES

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 29.—Sixty-six warehouses in New York state are overflowing with accumulations of food stuffs today while retail food prices cling generally to the war time level. If these supplies were placed on the market the cost of living would toboggan. Comparing the quantity of the food in storage January 1, 1918 and January 1, 1919 there is a tremendous increase.

Following are the figures as given in reports made by warehouse managers to the State Department and checked by inspectors. Names of the owners are not given out.

	Commodities in stock Jan. 7, 1918	Commodities in stock Jan. 1, 1919

GERMAN NEWSPAPERS SYMPATHIZE WITH WILHELM ON HIS BIRTHDAY

By JOHN GRAUDEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN, Jan. 27.—Conservative German newspapers today commemorated the former Kaiser's birthday by expressions of sympathy for him The German newspaper Lokal Anzeiger stated that it looked forward with confidence to the hour when Germany again will be an empire under the rule of a Kaiser It did not necessarily mean that Wilhelm shall be returned to the throne It did, however express hope that a homestead for the deposed Hohenzollern should be found in Germany and promised that the utmost measures would be taken in that case to protect him from falling into the hands of his enemy It is our sacred duty to remember with love and admiration the man who has plunged from the highest heights to the deepest depths

A LA SEARS ROEBUCK

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29—Marriage by mail for soldiers over seas and sweethearts in this country is permissible under a War Department ruling today The only limitation is that the proxy wedding shall not be countenanced where state laws would make the marriage invalid. Commanding officers suggested the decision to aid in cases where the soldiers are anxious to wed before their return.

No insurance will be issued on this form of postal business.—(Progress)

BRILLIANT SCENE AS THE DELEGATES ARE WELCOMED TO CITY

The Dimeling Hotel was the scene of a brilliant assemblage last evening when the Women's club of Clearfield greeted the delegate from the twelve counties of the Northwestern District of the State Federation of Womnes clubs At the banquet which followed the reception, after dinner speeches were made, beginning with 'Words of Welcome' by Mrs. Harry Boulton, President of the local club. Owing to illness Mrs Boulton was unable to deliver her address and Mrs George B Read read the paper which was excellent throughout One of the points emphasized by Mrs Boulton was that the war had considerably changed the social order of things and with their broader vision and larger phere of usefulness proven, women were now striving to be of greater service to each other

After the welcome address an entertaining and happy hour was spent in listening to the officers of the district and impromtu remarks Mrs J P O'Laughlin was a most charming toastmistress who announced each speaker in a most interesting and clever manner Mrs Marcus Jamison gave a very humorous account of her journey to Clearfield with its necessary "stop overs" enroute

Mrs Samuel Semple, state secretary, spoke very feelingly on the subject of "Pennsylvania" Mrs Semple who is prominent in state club circles spoke at length on the importance of child welfare Mrs J W Kitchen read a very interesting paper on the work of the Northwestern district past, present and future

The meeting at the High School was somewhat marred by the unpreventable absence of Doctors Hamm II and Royer but the subject of Child Welfare was ably handled by Dr Johnson of the Federal department who stated that thousands of children die annually from preventable diseases all because of sheer neglect

Dr John W Gordon, County Medical Inspector of Clearfield county, declared that the child welfare movement was a very vital necessity as upon the children of today depends the welfare and greatness of the nation tomorrow

The following are among the out of town delegates to the convention

Mrs Ronald P Gleason Scranton President State Federation of Pennsylvania Women

Mrs Samuel Sample Titusville Secretary State Federation of Pennsylvania Women

Mrs Joseph Bovaird Bradford Vice President Northwestern District of State Federation

Dr Bertha Johnson Child Welfare Bureau Washington D C

IN FOR A TRIMMING

SPECIAL TRAIN BRINGING GOOD ROADS BOOSTERS HERE: IN UNION THERE IS STRENGTH. COME ONE. COME ALL

The Good Roads meeting to be held in the Court Room tomorrow afternoon promises to be the largest gathering of the kind ever held in Clearfield county.

Senator John S. Fisher of Harrisburg, will be the principal speaker and delegations will be present from every section of the county

County Commissioners Dale and Spencer addressed a meeting in DuBois yesterday and urged the County Association there, as a result a large delegation will come over from the metropolis in a special train to attend the meeting

Clearfield county people have at last wakened up to the fact that a strong County organization is necessary to get Clearfield county's roads the proper consideration at the hands of the State Highway Department

This organization is being formed at the suggestion of the Highway Department officials who always contended that Clearfield county was handicapped because they wanted district or sectional roads instead of uniform county roads

Every section of the county is interested in good roads. Every section of the county should have good roads in their particular section Let us unite our forces and see that the greatest good comes to the greatest number. In union there is strength.

Let every district participate in tomorrow's big meeting.

ASKS PROGRESS TO PUBLISH WHISKEY BILL OF WARDENS

Clearfield, Pa, Jan 28 1919

Editor The Progress

Having just returned home my attention was called to a communication from Curwensville signed by "Another Old Hunter," in which an attempt is made to discredit my statement of recent date relative to the profligate expenditure of the Hunter's License fund for whiskey by the state game wardens under direction of the state Game commisson or at least of the Secretary, Dr Kalbfus

The only reason we had for making the assertion was because of the copy of a bill for expenses filed in the Auditor General's office and paid out of the state game commission's hunters license fund

We dont assume any responsibility for same or care to enter into a controversy but suggest and ask The Progress as a matter of public duty toward the hunter of Clearfield county to go into the question and look up such bill and publish same and not generalize information I think there is a great deal wrong with the present administration of the state game commission and "Another Old Hunter" knows a much about it as I do he would think it to Mr Editor it up

MYSTERIES ARE SOLVED

Penmanship and the clarified signature long since seem to have passed into the realm of lost arts. The typewriter has taken the zest out of the feather chirography, and there no longer seems incentive to write a readable "johnhancock".

The net result is bad, of course Very many signatures are undecipherable without the letter head lending a hand, many a communication would remain unanswered for lack of an addressee

Now comes the suggestion that every signature however clear be supplemented with the name in type. The worst hieroglyphic disappears under this treatment and the recipient knows clearly whose letter it is. As a consequence there is less hair-pulling Business is facilitated and the puzzling signature puzzles no more

Business has already adopted the practice in many places and its sanity ought to insure for it general usage

MAKING YOUR TAX RETURN

A warning against "fake experts" on Income tax has been sounded by the Internal Revenue Bureau, in a statement received by Collector C. G. Lewellyn from Commissioner Daniel C. Roper.

"Business houses and individual taxpayers are being canvassed this year by numerous so-called 'Income Tax experts,' who are offering to use their magic wands of Income Tax wisdom to relieve the busy taxpayer from all worries about his tax responsibilities.

"I desire to make public announcement, for the information of taxpayers, that an investigation of the qualifications of many of these experts will disclose the fact that very few of them have had the training and experience that would place them anywhere near the expert class.

"Some of them were formerly temporary employees of the government who are attempting to capitalize this fact regardless of their personal knowledge of the revenue laws and regulations

WHERE THE WAR IS STILL ON

The commodity markets yesterday were again demoralized Prices of corn, oats, barley and rye dropped violently by from 4 to 10 cents a bushel. Provisions were sympathetically affected, with a fall of $1 to the barrel of pork and 50 cents to the hundredweight of ribs and lard. These sharp declines are in succession to a general tendency pre ailing in practically all markets reflecting the necessary costs of living.

This is no longer news to the average consumer, and as the wholesale markets originate the knowledge they are in no need of the information But the retailers appear to be still dwelling in the outer zones of darkness. Their prices as a rule reveal no corresponding tendency to yield. Their price-labels indicate that the war is still going on, that there has been no armistice, that the enemy has not surrendered and that there is not going to be any surrender anyhow so far as they are concerned.

It is possible that the lower wholesale priced goods have not reached local markets but these items appearing in the metropolitan newspapers are leading consumers to ask when prices will begin to yield in local stores. No doubt some reductions will be noticeable within the next two weeks.

For some reason there is a strange silence on the part of the critics who were clamoring not long ago that the war would last a hundred years

War conditions in Europe have brought anarchists and other criminals to the fore They must be put down if they have to be shot down

It would be no more than just if the extravagant and lavish sons of rich families were formed into a street gang to help repair some of the devastated Belgian cities

We have advanced so far and so fast with our collective and individual civilization that eminent after-war regimentation may more with truth be called an expert

New Lots Of Broken Sizes UNCOVERED!

The Spirited Selling Of The First Six Days Of Our Clearance Shows Itself In Our Stocks. Lines That Were Full When The Sale Opened Are Now Placed In The Specials To Be Moved Out Quickly

A couple of sizes short here, a size or two short there and the line is incomplete. Hard work to fit a fellow when he likes a suit or overcoat and we haven't his size. Our merchandising policy precludes any such condition as this and broken lines must be closed out as they appear.

Many Fresh Items In The 1-3 To 1-2 Reductions

With the turn of the weather, it becomes particularly interesting to know that overcoats have undergone such a reduction. Good snappy coats---every one of them---and now just when you'll appreciate one best.

Think of saving from $10.00 to $15.00 on the price of a better suit! Worth looking into isn't it?

Don't Overlook The $20 Per Cent. Cut On Other Stock

Remember this includes everything in the store. No matter what it is. If you come in and buy a suit and the things that go with it amounting to $50 we'll just hand you back $10 on the deal.

COLORED COUPLE ARRESTED ON VERY SERIOUS CHARGE

Oliver Sanford and his wife colored residents of the Fourth Ward were placed in jail yesterday afternoon in default of $1000 bail each on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a white girl said to be but 15 years of age for the purpose of profiting financially from her shame

The arrest of Sanford and his wife occurred yesterday on information made at the direction of District Attorney Arnold following a hearing held before Squire Milburn Monday night

The Sanford's lived in the rear of Joe Manna's store on Daisy street and when their house was raided by the police Monday night the girl in question was found in the company of a couple of negro men

She had been staying with the Sanfords for several days having come here from Madera She told her story to the District Attorney and it was such as to warrant that official in having a write charge entered against the Sanfords She is said to be from Cambria county

All the parties to the affair are colored and will be tried at the coming January criminal court

Ben is not with the Clearfield boys now When he recovered in a Paris hospital he was sent to a reclassification camp and then attached to a mechanic shop truck unit as auto repairman

The Business Man's Bank

The business man often finds it profitable to borrow money to carry on his business. At such a time he should have the services of a bank whose officers know the needs of business men.

For many years the County National Bank has served the business men of this section of Pennsylvania

With Capital, Surplus and Profits of over twelve hundred thousand dollars, it is able to lend its customers their needs, however large.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative and are sold on the guarantee to give relief in 24 hours or money back. They are the result of Dr Edwards' 15 years' experience in treating liver troubles with vegetable compounds. Their extraordinary success in relieving Constipation, Biliousness and the many associated ills is due to their direct influence on the liver. They do the work of calomel but without any of its bad effects. They start the bile like strong hound dog calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why endure the discomfort of calomel when you can get relief from Dr Edwards' Olive Tablets for a few cents? Take one or two at night and see how you feel next morning. Sold by druggists. 10c and 30c per box.

New Treatment That Knocks Rheumatism

75c BOX FREE TO ANY SUFFERER

Upon Syracuse N Y, a treatment for rheumatism has been found that hundreds of druggists say is a wonder, reporting cases that seem little short of miraculous. Just a few treatments even in the very worst cases seem to accomplish wonders even after other remedies have failed entirely. It seems to neutralize the uric acid in the blood drives all the poisonous clogging waste from the system. Stiffened joints and sore swollen muscles just seem to melt away and vanish.

The treatment first introduced by Mr Delano is so good that it owner wants everybody that suffers from rheumatism who has a friend afflicted to send after 75c packet from him to prove just what it will do in every case for a penny a post. Mr Delano asks no person to believe that his treatment will positively relieve rheumatism no matter how severe, full form or long standing the case may be even after all other treatments have failed. Even if you only think you have rheumatism you owe it to yourself to send for this free trial. Write today to Mr W H Delano 1028 Y Wood Bldg Syracuse N Y. Don't put it off or you may forget. Do it now.

BRADY TWP FARMER HEARS PANTHER CRY

Jacob Haag, a venerable Brady township farmer brought the first panther story heard in this section in years, into this city this morning.

Mr. Haag declares that he distinctly heard a panther growling in the vicinity of his home shortly before midnight last night, although he was unable to see the animal upon investigation.

Mr. Haag has been a resident of Brady township for many years and was well acquainted with that section when there were numerous panthers in the vicinity, being well acquainted with the animals and the noises and sounds they make, so that he is convinced that he is not mistaken over the sounds he heard last night.—Tuesday's DuBois Express.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur no one can tell, because its done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though at home is mussy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we desire a youthful and attractive appearance get busy at once with the Sage and Sulphur Compound and look younger.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE MOUNTAIN LION'S TRIP.

"I must tell you," said the mountain lion whose name was Jim, "of the trip I have had."

Jim was a very beautiful mountain lion or puma and had just arrived in a big western zoo.

He was three years old and weighed one hundred and seventy-eight pounds, which is quite a good deal for a three-year-old to weigh.

"I was taken to the East," Jim said grandly, "and they had quite a time catching me to take me there. Ah, but I knew they wanted to have quite a hard time. Because," he added after a pause, "there was a reason."

"What could the reason have been?" his new zoo companions asked each other. They didn't want to ask him because they were afraid he would be quite unbearable if he became too conceited, and he had already had so many interesting experiences.

"What are you talking about?" Jim asked, for he noticed that they had been whispering to each other.

"Oh nothing very important," one of them said.

"Then you must have been talking about me," Jim said.

"What!" they all exclaimed. "The very idea!"

"Now what is the trouble?" inquired Jim.

"Do you mean to tell us," one of the zoo mountain lions named Tom asked, "that you don't consider yourself important after your journey and your experiences?"

"Oh, no," said Jim, "it hasn't changed me. I hate creatures who go off on trips and come back as if they'd been made all over again. They pretend they aren't used to the home ways at all, in a short time they've grown so used to the ways of other folks and creatures, and they put on such airs! Oh, such airs as they put on! I didn't really want to come here. I was afraid you would all think I was that sort of an animal.

"I roared good and hard too when they took me down to the express company from my Eastern home. I just said to them that I didn't want to move. I was willing to stay where I was.

But they paid no attention to me as they had decided to send me out here.

"No, I think I can truthfully say I am not conceited. But if you would like to hear about my trip I will tell you about it. For the trip was interesting—it wasn't myself that was so interesting—it was the trip. That often makes me so angry in creatures. They take all the credit to themselves for the trip.

"The places they have visited they think make them more interesting and far finer! And they don't give the credit to the places.

"Well, to continue, for my experiences have been interesting, just because I have had a great deal of luck in seeing something of life."

Jim roared a little and then continued, "As I said before they had a hard time catching me in the first place because they let me know they wanted to have a hard time. I wasn't feeling in the least wild. But they were taking my picture for the moving pictures and so they wanted me to appear like a very bad mountain lion. I did my part as I was told by my master who had made a great pet of me since the days when I hurt my foot as a little fellow. He took pity on me, and looked after me.

"Then I was taken East and I stood three times a day outside a moving picture theater and roared. Now there wasn't anything to that. It was quite simple for me to roar.

"In fact they couldn't have given me an easier act. So why get conceited over that? I didn't.

"And while I roared in a cage outside the theater, the people bought tickets for the show and went inside to see my picture.

"But my master said I could do better than that, because there were so many tricks I could do, and some more I could learn."

"What can you do?" the zoo companions asked.

"Oh, a few left and right springs and so forth," said Jim modestly, "but I want to learn a lot more. They're going to make a trick lion out of me."

"It's a wonder you're not conceited," the others said.

"Nonsense," said Jim, "it's simply because I've been a very lucky lion. Things have just come my way, and I have the sense to see that, and not to think it's because I'm such a wonder!"

TREATED ROYALLY IN GERMANY SAYS CLEARFIELD YANK

Private Clarence D. Lansberry, a member of Co. A, 4th M. G. Inf., in a letter to his father Wesley Lansberry, of Merrill street, says he is having the time of his life now in Plaidt, Germany, where he is located with the army of occupation. The letter was written December 31st and he says if some one had told him on December 31, 1917 that one year later he would have been through France, Alsace Lorraine, Luxemburg, and into Germany to the Rhine he would have thought them crazy. But here I am and sure have had some trip getting here.

The people here sure treat us fine. They have it all over the French in every way. I am staying with some people by the name of Esser and believe me they make it seem like home to me. There are two boys in the family who were in the German army. They were on the same front I was on. That is Chateau Thierry, St. Mihiel and the Argonne forest. They have been mustered out.

One of the boys is playing the piano now and if my pen gets to dancing around on the paper don't blame me.

Give my regards to all the folks.

MINE GAS BLOWUP KILLS THREE MEN AT SMOKE RUN, PA

Three men are dead as a result of an explosion of gas in the Goodyear sope at Smoke Run. The victims were Lew Burelle, aged 36 years, who leaves a wife and five children; Fred Hanley, aged 21 years and Steve Lucas, aged 20 years, both single.

The men were at work at usual, and without any warning the explosion occurred resulting from a lighted miners' lamp. They were hurled into a pool of water 2½ feet deep, and as they undoubtedly became immediately unconscious, it is thought were drowned instead of being killed from effects of the gas.

The bodies were not brought to the surface until the day following the explosion The men were favorably known and their sad death was a great shock to the community.

U. S. NAVY SCHOOLS STILL OPEN

Although the U. S. navy has secured a large number of men during the past week for the Electrical school at Hampton Roads, Va., and the 6 Machinists school at Charlston, S. C., the recruiting officer has announced that the quota has not as yet been filled.

Men between the ages of 18 and 30 who have had at least a small amount of experiesce in electrical work, and who are familiar with dynamos and dynamo engines, will be enlisted, if they meet the requirements and transferred to the Electrical school for training and to complete their education. Men who have finished their apprenticeship as machinists, or who possess equivalent knowledge may be enlisted as machinists mates, second class, and men who have had only limited machine shop experience may be enlisted as "Firemen, third class, for Machinists Mates." These men will be transferred to the Machinists school at Charleston, S. C.

Applicants will be examined by Chief Machinists Mate Weiss, who is in charge of the navy recruiting station at 1306 Eleventh Ave., Altoona, Pa. The station is in Room 3 and is open every day except Sunday for the reception of applicants for all branches of service in the U. S. navy.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

Every man takes care that his neighbor shall not cheat him. But a day comes when he begins to see that he does not cheat his neighbor. Then all goes well. He has changed his market cart into a chariot of the sun.

THE WELL-STOCKED EMERGENCY SHELF.

In every well-ordered home an emergency shelf is an indispensable adjunct to the equipment. With a well-stocked shelf the housekeeper goes calmly on, even with an invasion of four or five unexpected guests. The variety of shelf foods will depend largely upon the taste of the family. It is a good plan to have two jars or cans of each article in case one is not sufficient. Be sure to replenish any cans used at the first order, so that the shelf is always ready for any emergency.

The average family will use several cans of condensed milk, two or three kinds of soup, two cans each, two cans of salmon and two of tuna fish, one package of codfish, two cans of clams and two of crab meat, a glass of dried beef and sliced bacon, a jar of cream cheese, a bottle of parmesan cheese, a few cans of corn, peas, string and lima beans, two cans of asparagus, tomatoes and spinach, one can of stuffed olives, one of ripe olives and a can of pimentos, two jars of peaches, pears and sliced pineapple, one bottle of salad dressing, a glass of peanut butter, two bottles each of ginger ale and grape juice, a package of crackers (sweet), and salted wafers, mixed nuts, a few choice raisins, figs and dates, with a small tin of marshmallows.

A most attractive dish, and one quickly prepared, is the following:

Salmon With Riced Potato.—Take a good-sized platter, heap the salmon in the center, if the ordinary kind, removing skin and bones; if it is a filet of salmon place it unbroken in the center of a chop plate or platter. Cook potatoes to serve the number of guests, put through a ricer and arrange as a border to the fish. Prepare a rich white sauce, using a cupful of milk and two tablespoonfuls of butter and flour cooked together, then add the milk. When thick and well-cooked pour around the potato and place the platter in a dripping pan of hot water; place in the oven and heat until hot all through. Serve garnished with a bit of parsley.

BURZIE COLE IN GERMANY AFTER 400 MILE MARCH

Private Burzie Cole in a letter to his sister dated December 29th, mentions that he has not heard from his brother Elmer for a long time, evidently never having heard of the latter's death from pneumonia several weeks ago. He says he has not received even one leter from home since reaching the other side. He landed in France October 13th. They went from Brest to Bordeaux and after a week's training at Camp Hunt were shipped to the front line and spent the next three weeks under fire. He says that was long enough for their outfit and they were all glad when the armistice was signed.

He was on the long hike into Germany and said the Regimental band he is in played going through every town on their 400 mile march. They are in Polch, Germany now.

BRITISH OFFICER IN LETTER SPEAKS OF CLARENCE RISHELL

Lt. Thomas A. Jones of the 301st Heavy British-U. S. Tank Company, with the British Expeditionary Forces in a letter to a friend in Kenova, which was sent to O. B. Porter, made the following mention of Clarence ("Frosty") Rishell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Rishell, of McKee street:

"Do you know Corporal J. Rishell of Clearfield? He was killed in a chum's tank—the same tank which I afterward commanded. He was a splendid chap and we felt his [illegible] same enemy Austria [illegible]—Mr. Parker—is also in our unit. Maybe you have heard of either one of these boys."

GUNNERY SERGEANT JOHN P. BARRY, OF HILLSDALE IS CITED FOR BRAVERY UNDER FIRE: RUSSELL FLEGAL IN COMPANY

Sergeant John P. Barry of Company F Fifth United States Marine corps was one of the Clearfield boys, whose bravery under fire won him a citation from his superior officers.

Sergant Barry's citation reads: "He displayed great courage in rescuing a wounded man under violent machine gun fire, with utter disregard of danger and risk of life. This was near Vierzy on July 18 1918."

Sergeant Barry has been advanced to Gunnery Sergeant. He went thru every engagment with the Fifth Marines from the time they landed in France until the armistice was signed and is now a member of the army of occupation, located at Segendorf, Germany.

John Shade and Russell Flegal, two of Clearfield's best and bravest young men who made the supreme sacrifice in their country's defense, were also members of the Fifth Marines and in order that our people may get some idea of the part these boys played in the great war drama we publish herewith the general order issued to the 2nd Division of which the Fifth Marines was a unit, on the signing of the armistice. It is well worth reading.

Headquarters Second Division
(Regular)
American Expeditionary Forces
France, November 11, 1918

GENERAL ORDER

1. An armistice between the allied nations and Germany has been signed and hostilities ceased temporarily at 11 a. m. today.

2. It is fitting that the great part played by the 2nd Division in bringing about this momentous victory over a redoubtable foe should be recounted at this time.

3. At the end of May, the enemy broke through the allied lines on a wide front west of Rheims and reached the Marne near Chateau Thierry. The safety of Paris and of the allied army itself was at stake. It stopped his advance; it drove him back, and it demonstrated for all time that the American is second to none in valor. In endurance and unyielding determination to conquer.

4. Again on July 18th, during the last great enemy offensive, the 2nd Division after a night march of unparalleled difficulty struck, near Soissons, the flank of the enemy's salient, penetrated his lines and brought his offensive to a standstill. This was the beginning of the allied offensive which has continued unceasingly and untiringly until today.

5. On September 12th-15th, the American Army fought its first battle in France under American leadership. To the 2nd Division was assigned the most difficult and the most important task — the capture of Thiaucourt and the Jaulny-Xammes ridge. It reached its second day's objective on the first day, drove off the enemy's counter-attacks, and clinched the victory.

6. In the Champagne district, October 2nd to 10th it fought beside the Fourth French army. On October 3d, it seized Blanc Mont Ridge, the keystone of the arch of the main German position advanced beyond the Ridge and, although both flanks were unsupported, it held all its gains with the utmost tenacity, inflicting tremendous losess on the enemy. This victory freed Rheims and forced the entire German army between that city and the Argonne forest to retreat to the Aisne, a distance of 30 kilometers.

7. During the latter part of October, the Division was ordered to join the 1st American army for the great attack of November 1st. It was given the post of honor and led the advance. It drove through the enemys fortified lines to a depth of over nine kilometers, seized the heights [illegible] and destroyed the [illegible] its assault on November [illegible] and attacking [illegible] the heights of [illegible] pressed forward through the Forest of Belval by a single road and occupied the ridge near Beaumont. On the night of the 4th, it again attacked and advanced its lines to the Meuse. Finally on the night of the 10th, it forced its way across the Meuse and seized a commanding position on the eastern bank.

8. This superb divison of fighting men is unsurpassed in valor, in skill, in endurance in determination to conquer, and in service to the cause of the Allies.

9. In this great struggle, many of our comrades have made the supreme sacrifice for our country, but their heroic spirit dwells in the hearts of the officers and men of the 2nd Division.

HOW THE SIZE OF YOUR SOCKS AFFECTS COST OF LIVING

This little sock we give to you
Is not for you to wear,
Please multiply your size by two,
And place therein with care
In pennies or in cents
Just twice the number that you wear
(We hope it is immense)
So if you wear a No. 5
You owe us 10 cents, See!
Which dropped within this little sock
Will fill our hearts with glee.
'Tis all we ask, it isn't much,
And hardly any trouble;
But if you only have one foot,
We'll surely charge you double.
So don't forget the time and place,
And walk right in without a knock,
We'll welcome you with open arms.

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results from an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food oft in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach whiche prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach much like garbage sours in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery is the chest we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive adis and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescing and furthermore to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

Never be in such an emergency, as you cannot have the cake, pie and three kinds of bread on hand.—Detroit Free Press.

Some defeats are only instalments of victory.

SEASONABLE DISHES.

A hot soup, creamed chicken or a bisque is favored these chilly evenings. When one has dinner at night a light dinner may be preceded by a cream soup, as most soups are most nourishing. Cream soups are a good convenience item to have on hand for a few minutes' heating will make ready a wholesome and appetizing dish.

Hashed Brown Potatoes.—Take two cupfuls of cold boiled potatoes run fine. Season with onion juice, salt and pepper and turn into a frying pan; add a quarter of a cupful of milk and cook without stirring for ten minutes. Fold and roll like an omelet on a hot platter when ready to serve. Garnish with parsley.

Beef With Raisins.—Cut a quarter of a pound of salt pork into strips and fry in a hot frying pan until crisp with a sliced onion. Lay a compact piece of beef on, then add a pint of water, cover and cook for ten minutes, turning the beef three times during the time. Take up the beef and lay it in a dripping pan, dredge with flour and baste with the gravy from the frying pan, broken with flour, season with salt, a teaspoonful of sugar, and two tablespoonfuls of chopped raisins and the same of blanched and shredded almonds; cook five minutes, then pour around the meat.

California Salad.—Cut a large, ripe apple into cubes, add half as much finely minced celery, one orange thinly sliced, with the juice. Spread on lettuce and slice ripe olives in bits, add oil from the olives, the chopped apple and orange with the celery and mix well. Serve garnished with sliced olives. Add a little lemon juice and let stand a half hour to season.

Salmon or Tuna Fish for Sandwich Filling.—Take a can of either fish and make into a paste with the oil in the can. Chop a small onion, a half a clove of garlic and a quarter of a green pepper, a teaspoonful of chopped parsley and water enough to cook them, drain and mash, add salt and pepper and mix with the fish. Pack in glass jars and cover with melted butter.

CLAUDE ROWLES IS RECOVERING NICELY FROM BAD WOUNDS

Claude Rowles, son of Mr. and Mrs. McClellan Rowles, of Third Ward, writes from Base Hospital No. 62 in France, that when his letter was written, on Dec. 29th, he was feeling fine although still in bed. He says he will have to remain in bed a couple of months longer, but expects to leave for the States any time. They will fix me up in a hospital there.

The Captain (my doctor) says that when I am discharged I will be able to dance. My amputation is still tender and the wound above the knee is still open but they expect to sew it up inside of a couple of weeks.

They print a paper at this hospital and I am sending you a copy. Hope you are all well.

Your loving son,
CLAUDE.

"PRIVATE BILL" AND GALBRAITH BROTHERS PLEASE ST. MARY'S

The Good Cheer Trio, consisting of "Private Bill" and the Galbraith Brothers appeared in the Temple Theatre last night before a large and appreciative audience. The entertainment was given under the auspices of St. Agnes' Guild, and this society is certainly to be congratulated in presenting to the people of St. Mary's such a high-class attraction. There was not a dull moment throughout the entire evening. Private "Bill" has a wonderful story and knows how to tell it. He held the audience spellbound throughout his entire talk. The Galbraith Brothers certainly lived up to their reputation as superior entertainers. They sing, act and play their instruments with rare skill. They kept the audience in an uproar with their humorous songs and burlesques. Their Hawaiian guitar numbers were especially enjoyed. To sum up the evening was a huge success and every one left the theatre remarking that it was one of the best attractions ever heard here.—St. Mary's Press, Jan. 25th, 1919.

The Good Cheer Trio will appear at the High School Auditorium Friday evening next for the benefit of the Clearfield Fire Department.

CHEERFUL WORDS

For Many a Clearfield Household

To have the pains and aches of a free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders, is enough to make any Kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice of one who has suffered will prove helpful to hundreds of Clearfield readers.

Mrs. C. B. Shugert Tenth and Daisy streets, Clearfield, says: "I suffered for many years with kidney trouble. My kidneys acted irregularly and that as very annoying. I tried different medicines but wasn't helped until I used Doan's Kidney pills. They did me more good than anything I had ever used. I always keep Doan's Kidney pills in the house and they benefit me when I take them."

PASTOR SURPRISED

Yesterday, January 28th being the birthday anniversary of their pastor Rev. C. W. Baker, the congregation of St. John's English Lutheran church, sprung a complete and most delightful surprise upon him. More than this they made it the occasion for a sociable gathering where good will and cheer abounded. After all had partaken of the dainty refreshments furnished by the ladies, the Superintendent of the Sunday school, P. A. Deitzel in a few well chosen words extended the congratulations of the whole congregation to the pastor, and presented him with a complete and beautiful shaving outfit, the soap dish of which was filled with dollars. The pastor feelingly responded and urged greater loyalty to the church and her laws. It was a pleasant occasion.

I saw it in The Progress.

MORE CANDIDATES COMING

Our Democratic friends are commencing to sit up and take notice these days now that the September primaries are coming this way. Since our recent article announcing prospective candidates for the different county offices to be filled this year, the following have shied their chapeaus into the political ring.

For Prothonotary
Squire John Scollins, Houtzdale

County Commissioner
Phil Griesemer, R., DuoBis
Garfield Boyce, R, Clearfield
John M. Boyman, D., Clearfield
Walter R. Fargo, D., Clearfield
Albert Y. Straw, D., Pike township
John Schiedling, D., Lawrence Twp.

WEST SIDE CHOIR ATTENTION

There will be a short rehearsal after the services tonight. Please arrange to be on time.

An optimist is a man with no fear of the "flu."

Added to the cost of living is the cost of being sick!

Negotiating with the bolsheviki is bound to be a messy affair.

Ticklish problem—arresting Spanish influenza without catching it.

Nothing seems so fatefoss as the vampire kiss on the "movie" reel.

Something not to worry about now is the price and style regulation of straw hats.

The only good feature of the "flu" is the fact that it goes just as rapidly as it comes.

Apple crop is estimated to be 24,000,000 barrels. That means 48,000,000,000 cores.

Revolution in Germany should studiously avoid needlessly spattering its hands with blood.

A pessimist is a man with a bin full of coal who kicks about having to empty the ashes.

There is fine teamwork between the weather and the fuel conservation departments these days.

Winemakers of Bordeaux tread the grapes with their feet. Is that what puts the kick in the wine?

To hear the average "flu" victim talk after his recovery one would think he was expecting a service medal.

If the price of milk continues to go up we shall have to chase the pig out of the parlor and keep a cow!

One of the problems that will follow the war is the discovery of some decent employment for a U-boat.

Unfortunates who are always getting the wrong number are the strap hangers of the telephone service.

What has become of the old-fashioned man who used to own two pairs of trousers, both with suspenders?

This will be America over all in many ways then one. The British small boy is learning how to play baseball.

Now that the sugar allowance has been increased, coming nights will resume something of their ancient sweetness.

Bolshevism may no longer be a menace, but it is doubtless still uncomfortable to those who live in it.
